Old Si's Idea of Protection.

Old Si does not appreciate the presence of the soldiers in this locality. He asked yesterday:

"What all dese hyar solgers comin' hyar fur at dis time?"

"They have come to protect the negro."

"Whar is enny nigger dat want ter be pertected?"

"Why, the woods are full of them. They are afraid they can't vote without having the soldiers around."

"Good marster! An' dat s what dey want ter be pertected fur?"

"Yes."

"Whar dey gwine ter put de solgers ter pertect 'em, tell me so?"

"At the polls, of course."

"Dar's de fool in de nigger agin. Bress de Lawd ef dese niggers 'bout hyar is needin' enny pertecshun dey better stashun dem solgers up dar at de city court an' stop dat mersheen, 'kase dat's what's grindin' de niggers inter dus' now, sho's you is a foot high!"

And Si was not mistaken as to the ravages of the court among his race.

THE GALLED JADE WINCES.

THE SKOWHEGANITE FEELS THE TIGHTENING OF THE TOILS AND "KICKS."

Now Let Slip the Dogs of War!—Big Appeals to John Conley to Let Up!—But John Intends to Prove the Pudding!

Some days ago we published a startling document from John L Conley, ex-collector of internal revenue in this district, in which J E Bryant, the pallid "bloody-shirt" propagandist from Maine, was arraigned before the public for his corruption as a member of the Georgia legislature. Conley is so well known to Georgians and bears so good a character that his words have weight and his accusations were therefore given the credit due their certain and specified statement.

A TERRIBLE COMMOTION

was raised in the camp by the appearance of the Conley letter, and an issue was at once made between the friends and opponents of Bryant. In this city much feeling has been exhibited, and we understand that the trouble grows deeper as it gets older. Conley has many strong backers and is not disturbed by threats of excommunications from the party. About the United States court there is a strong Bryant element, held to him by apprehensions of his potency at Washington. These declare that Bryant shall not resign, and the other side say that if he does not the result will be the rending of the party in this state and such a division of the negro vote as will forever make it hopeless for radicals to move a wheel in Georgia.

HE IS FORCED TO ANSWER

But with all the boasting of his friends, or allies, Bryant has been forced by public opinion to say something to stay the tide of condemnation and secure a rest for a few days. In one of the Augusta papers he publishes the following card:

AUGUSTA, GA, September 20, 1876.

To the People of Georgia:

It has been publicly charged that when I was representative in the Georgia legislature I was controlled in all the votes I gave upon all the bills affecting the Brunswick and Albany railroad, and kindred matters by men who paid me money for my vote; that I secretly sold my vote for money; that notes and drafts, together with letters under my own hand acknowledging the receipt of money for such purposes, are in existence. It is also charged that I was paid money for failing to oppose the sale of the "Opera House" to the state. I pronounce these and all similar charges as absolutely false. I have never received, either directly or indirectly any money or other things of value as compensation for my vote or influence or my failure or neglect to vote for any measure that came before the Georgia legislation during the time I was a member thereof. I shall take the proper steps to have the matter fully investigated.

JOHN E. BRYANT.

It will be seen that Bryant denies all and singular the charges made against him and promises to have them investigated. He has thus publicly undertaken a contract in which he should not fail of specific performance unless he shall be sooner by Mr Conly with his witnesses and documents We understand that Conley says he did not make the charges recklessly or ignorantly, and that he will be able to substantiate them, or in event of failure his words are actionable and he is able to stand suit upon them.

SAVED THE TROUBLE

While the matter is in course of agitation we presume Mr Conley will also call Bryant's attention to the money paid him by the democratic party to make his mission to Washington city and in consideration of the influence he exerted there to baffle the measures of his party. Under all that there hangs a tale, perhaps, which both parties should see developed.

United States District Court.

HON. JOHN ERSKINE, JUDGE.

The district and circuit courts met at the usual hour.

No business in the latter. In the former the following revenue cases were disposed of:

United States vs Anderson Bass. Illicit distilling. Verdict not guilty.

Same vs Augustus Beinbaum. Extortion. Dismissed.

Same vs J C Ezzell. Illicit distilling. John B Harrell, illicit retailing; Leroy Pence, same, and Wylie F Bow, same. Orders to forfeit bonds.

John M Freeman a defaulting witness, was sentenced to fifteen days imprisonment in Fulton county jail.

John Evans and M Neely plead guilty to illicit distilling. They were sentenced to five months in DeKalb county jail, and fine of $100 and costs.

Jordan Bigby plead guilty to working in a distillery. He received two months and the costs of suit.

Felton H Couch and David Langston plead guilty to illicit distilling. Sentence was suspended for ten days.

The court then adjourned to this morning.

His honor Judge Wm. B. Woods is expected here about the first of October, when some of the heavy litigation in the circuit court will probably be taken up.

AT HELLGATE.

Directions for the Coming Explosion.

Special to the Constitution.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—General Newton, in a card to the newspapers, fixing the Hellgate explosion at 2:50 P. M., Sunday, says that sheer necessity has compelled the appointment of this day which, in many other respects is objectionable. He says that a space will be formed having a radius of about six hundred yards, measured from Hallett's point, which will be kept clear of boats at and near the time of explosion. After the explosion vessels should give Hallett's point a wide berth, as the surface of the reef may in points be elevated above its present level. As soon as possible after the explosion the reef will be marked out with bouys. There will be no commotion of air and the underground effect will be sufficient only to jar the buildings without rupturing or cracking the walls. Persons at least in the neighborhood would do well to have windows and doors open and look out for their ceilings. The best thing to do would be to stand outside until the explosion is over.

THE NEWPORT NOODLE.

Robeson's Secretary Commits Suicide.

NEW PORT, R. I., Sept. 22.—A dispatch says that the mysterious suicide on a steamer at Newport has at last been identified as Frank B. Smith, private secretary of the secretary of the navy, instead of as Frank Wheeler, the name given by deceased before his death. Just after his departure from New York, being evidently determined to commit suicide, he forwarded a note to that effect to his friend, and in fact told him that he should commit the deed that very night In the note he gave instructions about paying his just debts, and expressed the wish that the Fall River authorities might inter his body before those outside of his friends knew his real name. A few weeks ago he lost his sister which, together with the refusal of a young lady in New York to reciprocate his affections, led his friends to suppose that he would do something rash.

The Town of Jonesboro'.

Editors Constitution:—In your issue of yesterday you estimate the population of Jonesboro' at 700. This is a mistake. The census of 1875 show that we have 1,500. Besides thirty stores and four blacksmith shops, we have two large and convenient hotels, two churches, a large flouring mill and one of the finest schools in the state, presided over by Prof. G. C. Looney. The aggregate value of town property is $400,000. We ship annually from this place between six and eight thousand bales of cotton. Our merchants do a business amounting to $440,000 per annum.

CLAYTON.

—The south needs a succession of crops that will give an income oftener than once a year. Small grains provide winter pasturage and save feed. Wheat, barley, rye and oats may all be made money crops, while the stock which are fed on the farm will furnish ready money at nearly all seasons.—Southern Farmer.

RUINING THE RED MAN.

THEY SIGN THE TREATY TO MOVE FURTHER ON.

A Brilliant Speech by Red Cloud—Don't Want any Bad Whisky—An Indignant Chief.

Specials to the Constitution.

RED CLOUD, September 23.—The attendance of the Indians at the council to-day was much larger than yesterday. After a long talk of the commissioners, they consummated the treaty with the Sioux, the Cheyennes and Arrapahoes agreeing to the propositions made to them on the seventh inst. without the change of a single word. The propositions have already been published in full. The following named Indians were selected by their people to sign for the Ogallalas, after the treaty had been read over and interpreted to them before signing: Red-Cloud, Young-Man-Afraid-of-His-Horses, Red-Dog, Little-Wound, American-Horse, Afraid-Of-The-Bear, Three-Bears, Fire-Hunter, Quick-Bear, Red-Leaf, Fire-Eyes-Man, White-Cow, Good-Bull, Correl-Horse, Weesel-Bear, Fire-Lance, Bad-Wound, High-Bear, He-Takes-The-Evening-Soldier, Slow-Bull, High-Wolf, Big-Foot.

The Cheyennes and Arrapahoes will not sign until to-morrow, after which the commissioners start at once for the Spotted-Tail agency to consummate the treaty there.

To the surprise of the commissioners, after the Indians had offered their signatures to the treaty, they hung back, and speeches were made by a number of them before they would touch the pen and make their mark.

Red Cloud said: I am a friend of the president, and you men who have come here to see me are chief men and men of influence. You have come here with the words of the great father. Therefore, because I am his friend, I have said yes to what he has said to me, and I suppose that makes you happy. I don't like it that we have a soldier here to give us food. It makes your childrens' hearts go back and forth. A wish to have Major Howard for my agent, and want to have you send word to Washington so he can come here very soon. If my young men come back and say that the country is bad, it will not be possible for me to go there. As for the Missouri river country, I think if my people should move there to live they would all be destroyed. There is a great many bad men there, and bad whisky; therefore, I don't want to go there. A great many of my white relatives have no money; if they are employed to go to the Indian territory to look at the country I hope they will be paid out of the money of the great father that you have with you. In addition to this I mentioned yesterday that I want to go with my young men.

Other chiefs followed in somewhat the same strain, finally Crow-With-a-Good-Voice refused to sign the treaty and walked away with quite a show of indignation, but all the others who had been selected and were present affixed their cross to the paper, a copy of which was given them at their request.

The Plague.

The plague has appeared among the Turks before Alexinatz. They are compelled to change their positions every day, and burn their tents and posts.

The same dispatch announces that a thousand troops left Corunna for Cuba.

Prolonging the Armistice.

A Times' Berlin dispatch says the porte really accords the prolonged armistice provided Russia will suspend sending officers and volunteers to Servia.

The Telegraph's Vienna correspondent says the Russian Charge de Affairs refuses expressly to consent to the point against the influx of Russians to Servia.

A correspondent of the Times at Vienna, discussing the prospects of a prolongation of the armistice says: "On the Turkish side all is now likely to go right. The Mahommetan religious festival opportunely occurring at this time will make an extension of the armistice appear almost a religious duty. England having explained that her proposal of autonomy for the insurgent provinces meant the control merely of local affairs, Austria has withdrawn the proposals which she had made independently, because they coincided with the spirit and intention of the English proposals.

A Jealous Diplomat.

The Telegraph's Berlin dispatch reports a duel between a distinguished Russian diplomat and Prince Deogourowke, governor general of Moscow. Cause—jealousy.

Special to the Constitution.

Wade Hampton's Prospects.

Affairs in South Carolina are quiet. The opinion seems to be gaining ground that Hampton will carry the state.

The Refugee Governor.

WASHINGTON, September 22.—The Star says Attorney General Taft left for Ohio late last night without having had any consultation with Gov. Chamberlain about sending an additional military force to South Carolina. Mr. Wallace, the United States marshal for South Carolina, called at the department of justice to-day. He said he was to have met Governor Chamberlain in this city, but having failed to do so he supposed that the latter has gone to Maine for his wife. Senator Patterson in the meantime has gone to Philadelphia.

Martial Law in the South.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The New York Herald says declaration of martial law again in the south is among the near probabilities and is now under consideration if the present state of affairs become aggravated.

MOBILE, Sept. 22.—The publishers of the Mobile Register announce as a forgery what purports to be an extract from its columns, advocating the disfranchisement of the negro. No such article has appeared, editorially or otherwise. The Register advocated the recently adopted state constitution, which forbids any qualification of suffrage or office holding, on account of education, race, color or previous condition of servitude.

The Negro Row Extending.

Special to the Constitution.

CHARLESTON, Sept. 22.—The strike on the Combahee has broken out afresh, with increased violence. The strikers are beating most brutally all the colored hands whom they find at work. Some of these hands who had been working for a dollar a day, and who were terribly cut and bruised yesterday, reached Charleston this evening, hoping for redress from the United States court, as the civil officers of the state are powerless in the disturbed regions, and the gangs of strikers are masters of the situation.

AN INDIAN'S LAST SHOT.

Still Fighting after Both Legs and a Shoulder Had Been Broken.

Black Hills Pioneer.

On Monday morning August 21, four white men while out hunting about two miles from Deadwood, killed a deer, and while they were skinning it one of them saw an Indian approaching them leading his pony. He was probably trying to surprise them, but being uncertain of their exact position, he had approached too near and they discovered him first. One of the party snatched up his shotgun, loaded with buckshot, and fired both barrels bringing down the Indian and his pony. The confident manner in which the Indian had walked toward them led them to suppose that he was supported by a number of others, and so they quickly retreated toward Deadwood for reinforcements A party started out to scout the country and on reaching the spot where the deer lay, the men saw the Indian by the side of his pony, and thinking him dead they rushed forward. This action was fatal to one of the party, for a shot from the Indian's rifle struck him in the heart. A volley from the others killed the Indian instantly, however, and his body was quickly surrounded by the white men. The Indian had been almost riddled with buckshot, one shoulder and both legs having been broken, yet he had managed to bandage his legs and to take unerring aim with his wounded arm. Knowing that his life would be taken without doubt, he had prepared to sell it as dearly as possible, and, lying on his back, he rested his rifle on his wounded legs and shot dead the foremost of his assailants. In his mouth was another cartridge ready to reload. His rifle was the latest and best breech-loading arm issued to the army in 1875, and it was probable that he had obtain it in the Custer or Reno fight, since an old bullet mark in the grip of the stock showed that it had been in action.

The judge—"Then you did not see her on that occasion?" The Irishman answered. "No, my lord, I wasn't there," at which everybody roared again.

MORMON PERFIDY.

The Massacre at Mountain Meadows Nineteen Years Ago—The Terrible Story.

BEAVER, Utah, Sept 11, 1876.

Nineteen years ago an emigrant train of 137 persons, while on their way to California, were massacred in this territory at a place called Mountain Meadows, and, beyond a doubt, it was done by the Mormons, at the instigation of their prophet, Brigham Young. John D. Lee, an adopted son of Brigham, figured most conspicuously in the awful tragedy, and, with many of the guilty ones, he is now under indictment for participation in the crime. He is under arrest in this city, with three others of the guilty gang, and this morning their trial begins in the second district court of Utah.

A JOURNEY TO THE MEADOWS.

Feeling that to intelligently conduct the prosecution it was necessary to visit the scene of the butchery, Sumner Howard, Esq., United States district attorney for Zion, determined to do so. Accompaniad by Marshal Nelson, Official Court Reporter, A. S. Patterson, your correspondent, and a Mormon guide set out for that place on the morning of the 7th inst.

The Mountain Meadows are situated on the rim of the Great Basin, in the southwestern portion of the territory, and are distant from Beaver ninety-three miles.

In the journey of the first day we made eighty-three miles, and put up for the night with the presiding Mormon elder of Pinto, a saintly village composed of a dozen families. This town is in the tops of the mountains, and is distant from the scene of the massacre ten miles. Getting an early start on the morning of the 8th, we proceeded from Pinto westward three miles to the summit of a mountain and crossed into the north end of the meadows. The road from Pinto, over which is the only route the Mormons have leading to this valley of death, appears to be seldom or never traveled, and from the summit it is almost impassable as it winds by the dry bed of a creek down a small ravine to the westward. The adjacent hills are covered with sage brush, while here and there a scrub cedar is seen. In front of us a range of high, red mountains rise abruptly up, and, stretching north and south, shut out the western sky, while a black range of peaks forms a semicircle inclosing the Meadows on the south and east.

Following the ravine for two miles it spreads out into a flat of perhaps 200 acres, which forms the north end of the Mountain meadows proper. Here there are several large springs of fresh water, which serve to irrigate the meadow land and a few acres of tillable soil. This flat is inclosed by a stockade fence, which winds among the hills so as to encompass all the available land, and by the east side of this inclosure runs the Pioche and St. George wagon road, which is joined at these springs by the old California road on which we approached the meadows. These roads meet at a spot where the old Hamblin ranch house stood in the days of the massacre, and to the right or north, at a distance of five hundred yards, around the point of a bluff, the road passes through a hamlet of ten dwellings, where seven Mormon families reside, three of whom are polygamous These wretched people are shut out from the sight of man. Surrounded by barren hills on all sides, their view of God's green earth is indeed circumscribed. Not a green thing is visible, and their frost-bitten field adds nothing to the beauty of the place. To the northwest there is a gloomy looking and precipitous pass in the mountains, through which their eyes may catch a glimpse of the barren bosom of the great American desert, with its broad alkali flats glistening in the sun and stretching far into the distance, broken only by the misty outlines of blue mountains. But no morning smiles on them with an early sun, no sunset sheds its golden glory on their dwelling place; they live in the silence and the shadow of a tomb.

THE FIRST VIEW.

From this desolate abode of these few devout flowers of the prophet Brigham we proceeded southward on the old California road, which ascends gradually for a distance of two and a half miles to the rim of the basin, when the first view of the meadows is obtained. The little valley to which is applied the name is five miles long, running north and south, and is divided into two parts by the rim, one sloping to the north and the other to the south.

From this divide a road once led to a large spring of water on the southern slope of the meadows, near the head of a deep and steep canon. At this spring emigrant trains were in the habit of camping for a few days to recruit before crossing the desert, and then turning back into the road which leads out of the southeast end of the meadows. We found the road leading down to the spring guilled out and impassible with a team. Hence we left our vehicle and proceeded on foot over the ground.

Perhaps midway between the summit and the old camping ground we came across numbers of human bones. A rib as white as snow, a shoulder-blade half buried in the sand, and other fragments of human frames, scattered for a mile, lay bleaching in the sun.

THE OLD CAMP GROUND

where the emigrants corraled their wagons was a level strip of meadow, terminating in a bluff-like manner, and commanding a view of a half mile down the canon, and in turn commanded from the hills on every other side. There it was the train had determined to remain for a week or ten days to allow their teams to recruit on the rich grass which grew in abundance on the hills and in the meadows. The Indians and Mormons attacked them furiously; and, notwithstanding they barricaded by throwing up sod breastworks under their wagons, quite a number of their men were picked off by arrows and bullets. For several days they held their murderers at bay, but finally, by the treachery of John D. Lee, they were decoyed out, and the whole company, men, women, and children, excepting seventeen babes, were slaughtered. Their effects, even the clothing in which they were shot down, were carried off and appropriated by the Mormon priesthood and the Indians.

BURYING THE REMAINS.

In 1859 a detachment of Col. Johnston's command of United States soldiers from Camp Floyd did the Christian service of gathering together all they could find of the bones of these victims and burying them in two graves. One of these graves was made within the limits of the little corral where the Arkansans had so gallantly defended their wives and children against the foe, and where several of their number had been shot before the treachery of Lee brought death and ruin on them all. Above their sacred dust the soldiers erected a rude monument of granite boulders and a wooden cross to their memory. Brigham spat upon the cross, and the Mormons demolished the monument. It is now simply a heap of stones three feet wide and a rod long running east and west, and is all, save the blight which has come upon the spot, that marks their hallowed resting place. In 1862 a cloudburst cut the meadows into gullies, one of which turned from its course and missed this grave. Thus, it seems, Providence spared the rude monument and moldering bones, but the Mormons did not.

OTHER GRAVES—RELICS.

The other grave was half a mile north of the monument at the fork of the road which led back to the main route, but at the present time it is lost. The spring is almost dry; what there is of it is oozing out in the bottom of the gully which just misses the monument; the meadow where the train stood is now a shifting sandhill; the barricade thrown up is blown away, it is barren of vegetation, recognizable only by the heap of boulders once serving to designate a common grave. A few feet west of it there are three rocks lying in a line, and at one end an oaken stick stands in the ground, evidently making the grave of one who fell before the train surrendered. Our party picked up a few bits of chinaware, a nail from the wooden-cross, an ounce slug, a navy bullet, a few flint and moss-agate arrow heads, and fragments of human remains. These mark the scene of the seige, and the bleeching bones strewn among the sagebrush for a mile above shows that the butchery was not confined to a single spot.

THEN AND NOW.

Our Mormon guide who was noncommunicative relative to the massacre, however, told us that when he passed through the meadows in 1851 and 1858 they well deserved the name they bore. The springs then poured forth a copious stream, abundance of grass crowned all the hills, and every hollow was a meadow. Now, not a spear of grass can be seen, hills and hollows are alike overgrown with sage brush, and deep gullies come from every side. Yet on the neighboring hills there grows and blossoms all summer a white thistle which perfumes the air with a peculiar odor, but these white decked syngenesia do not change the fact, the mountain meadows are a howling desert.

GUILTY OF MURDER IN THE FIRST DEGREE.

SALT LAKE, Sept. 20.—In the Beaver court this morning, Judge Boreman, in the course of his charge to the jury, said: "The prisoner, J. D. Lee, stands before you charged with being a participant in one of the most atrocious murders that was ever known in any civilized part of the world, that at Mountain Meadow, in 1857. The evidence shows that the persons killed were emigrants.

A combination of Indians and white men had been making an attack upon their encampments. The Indians and white men vied with each other in the fiendish work of destroying over 120 men, women and children. It has been alleged that he shot one woman with a gun, one with a pistol, and cut the throat of another, and told an Indian not to spare a young woman, whose life the savage asked him to spare."

The jury retired at 11:45 a. m., and at 3:30 p. m. returned with a verdict of murder in the first degree.

Effect of the Order South.

Cairo Bulletin, Sept 10.

Loyalty in its strictest sense seems to be the determination of the southern people. The bloody shirt order did not hardly cause a flutter among them, although they knew the bayonets of the administration were being fixed upon loaded guns, ready for use at the command of any drunken marshal who might think himself personally offended. Everything moves along as usual, and no one shows the least alarm. They are aware that their liberties are being tampered with, but at the same time know that the blow being now struck may fall, at no distant day, upon the north. They also know that not one-quarter of the voters of the government would tolerate such a flagrant act of despotism were it leveled at the north. Quietly submitting, they look forward to the day when the spoilers will be driven from the capital, and men who love too see justice dispensed with an even hand all over the land will be put in their places.

It was midafternoon of one of the late hot days, when a three-year old darling got sleepy and peevish. "Ma," she said, "give me candy." "No, my dear, not now." Pretty soon she said: "Ma, give me cake." "No, no; you are not hungry." "Then take me on your lap," whined the uncomfortable child. "No, I haven't time, pet." The little one was about to burst into tears when she remembered another comfort that had never been denied her, and she cried: "Well, ma, let's pray!" At once she was taken into the maternal embrace and found rest.

SOUTH CAROLINA

LATEST FROM THE FRONT.

All Quiet at Rouse's Bridge and Ellenton—The Federal Troops Return to Aiken—Attack on Mr. McKie's House—Negro Killed.

Augusta Chronicle, Sept. 22.

From parties who came up on the Port Royal railroad train yesterday afternoon, we learned that all was quiet at the scene of the recent disturbances Gen. Hagood arrived at Steel creek, where three hundred white men were camped, Wednesday afternoon. Yesterday morning with this force he rode through the county but found no parties of armed negroes. Gen. Hagood returned to Barnwell, C. H., last evening. Everything is quiet along the Port Royal railroad and no further trouble is apprehended for the present at any rate.

It was reported yesterday morning that the federal soldiers at Rouse's bridge had been attacked by the negroes and one man killed. This proved not to be the case, however. About half-past 1 o'clock yesterday Captain Lord, U. S. A., with twenty seven men, reached the city on a special train of the Port Royal railroad and left for Aiken on the accommodation train of the South Carolina railroad. He reported all quiet at Ellenton and Rouse's bridge. He left six men at Ellenton.

A BOLD ACT.

Last Tuesday night a party of negroes set fire to the grist mill, saw mill and gin house of Mr. Milledge T. Holly, five miles from Aiken. They then fired the bushes on either side of the road leading from Mr. Holly's house to his mill, and secreted themselves near by, expecting that when Mr. Holly discovered that his buildings were burning he would ride towards them, and thus fall into the ambush prepared for him. Fortunately Mr. Holly was warned by a friendly negro of the designs of the fiends, and remained at home. His grist mill and gin house were entirely destroyed, but the fire at the saw mill went out without doing any damage.

A DARING ATTACK.

Last Wednesday night a most daring attempt at murder and robbery occurred about five miles from Hamburg, on the premises of Mr. Thomas W. McKie. Mr. McKie had just finished supper when he heard his hounds barking furiously at something, apparently in his garden. He went out to investigate the matter, and when a few steps from his door, some one fired upon his dogs. He returned to his house, got his gun, and urged his dogs forward. He was then fired into, and he returned the fire, causing the parties who were attempting to rob him to retreat. He then went back, reloaded his gun, and quietly awaited the results. In a few moments the negroes (for it turned out to be negroes) came up to his front gate and opened a rapid fire upon his front door. Some of the balls penetrated the door and fell at the feet of a lady who was in the house. Mr. McKie realizing the danger he was in, took his family, consisting of his wife and five small children, one a delicate infant, and carried them to the edge of the woods in the rear of his dwelling. He then went back and concealed himself under the house. The negroes, numbering eight or ten, came on, making the air red with their curses and firing off their pistols at the house. The negroes on Mr. McKie's place hearing the shooting, hastened over to his assistance. One of them being in advance of his comrades, was fired into by the attacking party. He ran and they supposing it was McKie, yelled out, "We've got him!" One who seemed to be the leader, and who certainly was very daring, drew a small bench out from under the house, and placing it against the window of McKie's bed room, commenced smashing in the sash. McKie quietly slipped up to him and placing his gun almost on the negro's breast fired and killed him instantly. One of McKie's negroes ran hastily to the neighbor's houses and gave the alarm, and in a short while the place was surrounded by whites and the honest negroes, but none of the villains could be found. Trial Justice Arnim, acting coroner, held an inquest over the body of the dead negro, and the jury returned a verdict that he was killed by T. W. McKie, in self-defense and for the protection of his own life and the lives of his family.

Mr. McKie had just been in town that morning and sold 13 bales of cotton and he thinks the negroes were after the money. A special reporter of the Chronicle and Sentinel visited the house and saw where several balls had fallen in Mrs. McKie's bedroom. The sash was a complete wreck. The negro was armed with one of Smith & Wesson's improved pistols. It was found by his body. Mrs. McKie is in delicate health, and was forced by these brutes in human form to flee from her own home, taking her helpless children with her into the woods, expecting every second to be murdered, and believing that her husband had been killed. She ran several miles in the cold night air and suffered countless agonies. Her feelings can be better imagined than described. Such outrages as these are what cause the people of South Carolina to become reckless and determined to sell their lives as dearly as possible in defense of their firesides. Mr. McKie acted in the whole matter with courage and nerve almost unequaled.

The negro killed was named Nelson Hunter. He was smashing the glass in the window of Mr. McKie's bed room when the latter, who was under the house, crept up to him, placed his gun almost to his breast and fired. Hunter fell dead and the other robbers fled. Cook, the negro who went after assistance for Mr. McKie, is the father of James Cook, the marshal of Hamburg, who was killed in the Hamburg riot. He ran to each house in the neighborhood and informed the people what was going on at Mr. McKie's.

A dispatch from Barcelona to the Times notices the growing desire of the Spanish clergy to obtain the suppression of all Protestant schools They argue that the people, until they are of full age, have no right to be instructed in any religion save the Catholic.

THE evidences of returning prosperity come to us from all parts of the country, and a gratifying feature of the revival is the fact that it is altogether legitimate and free from speculative manipulation

THE democratic candidates for the legislature from the county in which Nashville is situated, were unanimously instructed to use all honorable means to secure Gen. W. B. Bates' election to the United States senate for the long term.

ALTHOUGH all the lower part of South Carolina is in a state of ferment and the radical leaders are doing their utmost to precipitate conflicts between the races, yet Gov. Chamberlain did not hesitate to leave the state on Wednesday. He has gone to Massachusetts where his family are, and where he himself really resides.

"IT is an ill wind that blows nobody any good." The Louisville Courier-Journal says the exchange fiend has not called, in its office, for a single copy of the Savannah News for some weeks, although it has been unusually interesting of late.

THE bankers propose to raise a fund for the support of the bereaved and dependent wife of Haywood, the heroic cashier of the Northfield, Minnesota, bank, who preferred to die rather than surrender the keys of the vaults. If there is a bank that will not contribute to that fund, it deserves to have its vaults rifled at least once a month.

FROM every direction, says the Rome Courier, "we hear the intelligence that Col. Dabney is makign votes. Democrats who voted for Felton two years ago for reasons not necessary to mention, are determined to vote for the regular nominee because the nomination of Col. Dabney was fairly made. They see the necessity of democratic organization in behalf of democratic success and they will not desert the party."

THE expianation of Gov. Tilden's revenue returns is the subject of extended comment in the New York papers. The World and Sun consider it perfectly satisfactorily in every respect. They say it clears up the whole case so as not to leave room for the shadow of argument against the honor of Mr. Tilden. The Tribune also treats it fairly, but to the partisan Times it is, of course, unsatisfactory.

MR. SAYLER, says a Cincinnati paper, has concluded his revision of the journal of the house proceedings. The speaker is held responsible for the correctness of the record of the proceedings as well ac for the accuracy of the speaker's rulings as they shall appear in the published record. The importance of such revision was quite apparent. In some instances very material errors had been made, which, if not corrected, would have left the record in a badly bungled condition, completely reversing some of the most important rulings.

IN reference to the payment of those "southern claims" that only come to the surface just before an election, the Cincinnati Enquirer aptly and properly says: "Past experience warrants us in saying that the southern claimants have more to expect from their ability to bribe republican congressmen than any sympathy that democrats may entertain for them." The aforesaid "southern claimants" are almost to a man northern men who have gathered in the "claims" for a song on speculation. The south has little or no interest in the matter.

ON Wednesday last the democrats of Mr. Kerr's district nominated Hon. Nathan T. Carr, of Jeffersonville, as the successor in congress of the dead speaker. The nominee is forty-two years of age, and one of the foremost lawyers of his county. He served two terms in the Michigan legislature and has had considerable experience in legislation. He served in the union army during the war, holding the rank of captain. He is an elegant and forcible speaker, and will carry the district by a rousing majority.

THE YELLOW FEVER.

The disease has obtained a foothold in Charleston. It is epidemic at Brunswick. It holds undisputed possession of our great seaport. These facts seem to indicate that the air of the south Atlantic coast is ripe for the reception of the dread fever of the tropics, and that nothing but the cooler weather which has been ushered in by the equinoctial storm will save the coast towns south of Virginia from the scourge.

The people of Charleston insist however that this view of the case is not correct. They claim to be able to trace the disease in their city to a Spanish bark which touched at St. Thomas, an infected port of the West Indies, or to men who surreptitiously traded with vessels detained at quarrantine. Says the Journal of Commerce: "All the cases that have occurred thus far can be traced to their origin, and have either been brought here or been taken by parties coming in contact with those bringing the fever here. Under these circumstances the board have not agreed that it would be advisable to make further publicity of the matter, but promise that when the inhabitants of the city are in danger they will be notified that the fever has become epidemic." The city authorities are acting energetically and with that intelligence which comes from experisnce, to confine and crush out the disease. We can only hope that their efforts will be successful.

It is a very singular disease. The Journal of Commerce mentions its appearance at New Orleans in 1873. It became epidemic in a few squares, and did not spread beyond those squares; but when it was carried to Memphis and Shreveport, its work was appalling. In 1874 the fever was brought into Charleston, and well-known local causes developed the germ into a limited epidemic. The whole number of deaths was forty, the first occurring on the 16th of September and the last on the 5th of December. Although the type of the disease was very malignant, yet there were not over one hundred cases all told. These and similar facts show that the scourge is as erratic as it is dreadful. But much surely depends upon the hygienic condition of the towns to which germs of the disease have been or may be carried. If the air of the lower coast is poisoned, there is little chance for hope at present; if, however, the fever must depend for material upon local causes, we may reasonably hope that the worst is over. A watchful and a just Providence alone knows.

We should not discontinue our efforts to help the sick and suffering in the stricken cities. Every town in the state should do something. Let no town think that a small sum would not be gratefully received because a few northern cities have sent large sums. About $25,000 have thus far been received. This is a large amount, but when we remember that fifteen thousand people in Savannah alone are dependent upon charity and that that city contains two thousand who are stretched on beds of sickness, the amount received dwindles into insignificance. The contributions from northern cities may cease at any time, and the association of noble workers at Savannah be left entirely powerless to provide for the distress and misery and suffering that surrounds them. This must not be. Let every town in Georgia do something to alleviate the distress that the scourge has brought upon our own people. Let us out of the abundance that a merciful God has blessed us with this year, apply some of it to the help of our own kindred who cannot help themselves Instant help may be needed, and we should be prepared for any call from Captain Wheaton and his band of blessed workers, who are doing all that men can do to help the hungry, sick and dying.

THE AMUSEMENT SEASON.

In a few weeks at the fartherest, our dramatic and musical season will be opened, and a tide of entertainments will begin to flow, generally from the northward, across the borders of the state. The outlook is not however a good one. There was a very poor prospect even in August, and the presence of the fever in the coast cities has turned that prospect into a dismal one. The really excellent entertainments that will come to us in the approaching season, can be enumerated on one's hands, unless additional engagements are concluded in the next few days.

Expenses are too high for profitable trips through the south at present, and Mr. John T. Ford of Baltimore deserves the thanks of our amusement-goers for his efforts to bring those expenses within reasonable limits. He has formed an association that now comprises nearly every manager of note outside of New York city. The associated managers do not intend to longer let certain "stars," or rather the managers of certain stars, rob them, and through them the people who patronize first-class amusements. Mr. Ford has a ready made satisfactory arrangements with Lotta, Maggie Mitchell, Mary Anderson, Chanfrau, Fechter, John T. Raymond, Mrs. Oates, Booth, McCullough and several others. Most of these, however, he will not be able to bring south of Richmond. The sixty-five per cent stars he is letting severely alone, and so are the managers with whom he is acting. This is well. Sothern is one of that kind. He refused from Mr. Ford fifty per cent of gross receipts, although he is playing for much less in New York. Such men play for almost nothing in New York, in order to earn a notoriety that will enable them to demand extravagant prices in "the provincial cities." Mr. Ford does not believe in that kind of a schedule. He believes that the stock should have some show, that the orchestra should not be overlooked, and that the appointments of the stage should be bettered. The public will sustain him in his efforts. Let the sixty-five per cent. stars and their unscrupulous agents alone. Give us stars of a lesser magnitude until the ideas of the big bonanza era are entirely eradicated.

GEN. GORDON was one of the speakers at the great Spartanburg meeting held last week. The Herald, of that enterprising South Carolina town, says he "spoke an hour and a half, holding the immense multitude spell-bound by his eloquence throughout his entire speech, when three-fourths of the crowd were standing and numbers of them were unprotected from the scorching rays of the sun. It was indeed a masterly effort, and is universally conceded to be the best speech ever delivered in this section. It was equal to any speech we have ever heard here or elsewhere, and was filled with outbursts of eloquence that drew frequent shouts of applause from the thousands of enthused hearers, in whose hearts the name of Gordon has been engraved in imperishable characters. Our people will ever remember with love and gratitude the gallant soldier and true patriot, who was the first to come to us from a sister state, to hold up our hands and encourage us in our hour of sorest trial. We hope he will consent to furnish us with an outline of his address for publication. It would be the best campaign document that could be put in the hands of the people, white and colored, throughout the south and even the north. In the name of our people we thank him for coming to our assistance, and hope he may be induced to visit other sections of the state during the campaign."

THE New York papers note a remarkable increase of postal business in that city within the past few weeks, indicating a more general activity in trade, especially with the south and west. Last week the number of letters deposited in the office for mailing averaged 325,000 a day. Last year the average for the corresponding time was 275,000 a day. The letters received from abroad for delivery in the city during the same time averaged 150,000 a day, an excess of 50,000 letters a day over the receipts for the same time last year. Should the business of the office show no falling off until the end of the quarter, a safe estimate of the increase over the corresponding three months of 1875, would be twenty-five per cent. No account is taken in this estimate of the increase of political campaign documents.

THE newspapers are about evenly divided as to the time when the first election in the new centennial state of Colorado is to take place. Some say it occurs on the third of next month and some say on the tenth. The weight of "authority" seems to be in favor of the third proximo. The people of Colorado will therefore please take notice and govern themselves accordingly. The new legislature will elect, not only two United States senators, but also the presidential electors of the state. Colorado will thus lead all the states in voting for a president. The legislature of South Carolia formerly named the states' presidential electors and Colorado has in her a good precedent. Which party will control the first legislature in the new state is a problem. The republicans are strong in northern Colorado, but very weak in the southern part of the state.

THE Cincinnati Enquirer thus explains the true inwardness of a solid south:

> The south is pretty nearly "solid," and it is not strange. Republican misrule has made it "solid." Enormous taxation has made it "solid." Impoverishing the land has made it "solid." Turning out legislatures and governors by the army, has made it "solid." Unparalleled public robbery has made it "solid." The rule of carpet-baggers and republican camp-followers has made it "solid." The Freedmen's bank, the name for one of the republican devices for swindling the negro, has helped to make it "solid." The instigation of the black men to violence to "fire the northern heart" has made it "solid." Northern hate and malignity have made it "solid." The present vehement and vil'ainous sectional attempt to make a "solid north" against the south, after the work of the "solid north" for the last ten years, would naturally tend to make the south "solid."

THE New York Herald thus defines the differences between the politicians of the two great sections of the country: "A northern politician depends so much upon the temper of the people that he is always trying to cast himself down to the average level. A southern politician tries to be as much above his constituency as possible, hoping to gain their respect. The one uses his convex lens to scatter his rays, and the other uses a convex lens hoping to concentrate his power." The Herald has drawn a very truthful and suggestive picture.

FACT AND COMMENT.

RADICAL policy: The union is attached by bonds of steal.

TWEED's lawyers have just completed, in his behalf, a brief containing two thousand pages.

WINTER quarters for the avengers of Custer, but no quarter for the democrats of the south.

FIVE hundred centennial guards are to be retained on duty until Jan. 1, 1877, and a considerable number until even March or April.

STRANGE that Hayes should have remembered that two-dollar sheep, and forgot that fifteen-hundred-dollar diamond ring. Wasn't it.

THERE are 4,172,313 persons in France holding government stocks, while in 1870 they numbered only 1,187,49.

No decent democrat in the next congress can do half the damage to the republican party that Mr. Butler will, if elected.—New York Tribune.

GEN TCHERNAYOFF has not been so successful commanding Servians as when he commanded Russians in the Khivan war in Turkistan.

CINCINNATI and several other northern towns will not object to the traiterous trade of a solid south in case of a return of prosperous times.

ALL over the country people are going to the centennial for the purpose of seeing the fact stated in the local papers. It is almost equal to being "mentioned" for a congressional nomination

COL. MCCLURE, of the Philadelphia Times, puts Ohio down as a debatable state, and says that it is lost to Hayes unless the Mortons, Camerons, Conklings, Chandlers, corruptionists and bloody-shirters are withdrawn from the stump.

A TREMENDOUS "amen" from his vast congregation followed Mr Spurgeon's prayer the other day that the Turks might soon be driven out of Europe, and the whole of the Mohammedan power swept away from off the face of the earth.

AS A member of congress Gov. Hayes introduced one bill, and that was to increase his wife's brother's salary, who was a clerk in the Cincinnati postoffice at twelve dollars a month.

JOHN HANCOCK received from the colonia legislature, in 1794, the first silver plated table service ever seen in America. It is now owned by a gentleman in Lawrence, Mass., and has just gone to Meridien to be replated.

THE manufacture of iron in the west is rapidly increasing in amount. In Chicago alone ther are two of the ten Bessemer steel works in the United States, and these made 85,000 tons of the 291,000 tons of Bessemer steel rails manufactured in this country last year.

THE New York World has added to its staff a French cook, who furnishes every day the programme for an impracticable dinner He's learned, though, and when he gets to talking about soft-shell crabs on toast is eloquent and imposing.

THE first bank established in the United States was the Bank of North America, Philadelphia, which was started in 1782; the second the Bank of New York, June 17, 1784; the third, the Massachusetts Bank, of Boston which started one month later in the same year. The three have kept accounts with each other ever since.

EMIL DE GIRARDIN says each year has its task, that of 1876 being to free the eight millions of Christians now under Turkish rule. He urges several plans regarding the countries which they inhabit, one being that they should form a confederation under the title of the United States of the Danube, and that each state should assume its proportion of the present Turkish debt.

ROBB BELL, a surgeon prominent in the Bravo trial, has distinguished himself in another case. A man went to bed and his wife on after followed him. She found him speechless, with blood flowing from his mouth. A doctor was sent for, but he did no good, and and then Mr. Bell was summoned. He discovered that the man's false teeth had got into his throat, almost choking him, and with great skill he dislodged them.

THE new capitol building of West Virginia is rapidly approaching completion, and will be ready for occupancy by the time of the convening of the next legislature. The building is being erected at the expense of the city of Wheeling. The building is designed in the Italian style, of stone and brick, with galvanized iron cornices, etc, and arranged in the form of the letter H. It is three stories in hight above the basement, the latter being chiefly of stone and quite massive.

PLANS for the Springer music hall in Cincinnati which if carried out will make it the largest building used for a music hall in America, have been approved by Mr. Springer, and ground will soon be broken for the laying of the foundations. The building will be 325 feet long, 182 feet broad, and have a clear hight of 80 feet from the floor of the hall to its ceiling. There will be seats for an audience, chorus, and orchestra, altogether of 6,500 persons.

THE latest London gossip concerns still another American marriage into a ducal house of Britain. The engagement is reported of Mrs Hicks, a wealthy widow of New York, who has passed several seasons in London, to Lord Henry Gordon Lennox, brother of the quadruple Duke of Richmond, Gordon Lennox and Aubigoy. Lord Henry, it will be remembered, was not long ago moved to resign his office in the Disraeli government as chief commissioner of works, by reason of his indiscreet dealings with a tramway company. He is personally very popular in London, and as everybody bewailed his political mishap, everybody no doubt will rejoice in his matrimonial good luck.

A CITIZEN of Richmond, Va., who was an intimate friend of the late ex-governor Wise, relates the following story: "During the Harrison presidential canvass I was in Washington, and slept in the same room with my friend Henry A Wise. In the middle of the night I was waked by a noise in the room. Upon looking up I could see by the light of the the moonbeam the figure of Mr Wise. He was kneeling by the table and praying aloud and earnestly to his Maker. I have heard many distinguished and eloquent divines pray but never before have I heard a prayer so beautiful, so touching, grand and appropriate as I heard upon the night from the lips of Henry A Wise.

Allied Enemies to Health.

In many of the fairest and most fertile districts of North and Tropical America, air and water are allied enemies of health, both being impregnated with the poisonous miasmata which produce chills and fever, bilious remittents and febrile disorders of a still more malignant type. Fortunately, a sure preventive and curative of such destructive maladies is to found in Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a vegetable preparation which is infinitely to be preferred, both on account of its efficacy and freedom from all hurtful properties: to the delecterious mineral and alkaloid remedies of the pharmacopœia. It is moreover, the reigning specific for dyspepsia, debility, constipation, urinary troubles, rheumatism and nervousness, promotes appetite and sleep, and is a capital antidote to depression of spirits.

WEDDING EVE.

At the single silver chime she hies,
With golden lights in the brown of her hair,
She carries away my heart and eyes,
And leaves me her kiss at the foot of the stair!

Two plump white arms are round my neck;
Her mouth and her eyes and her heart kiss mine;
She kisses me words she will not speak,
Kisses the sunlight mingled with mine.

Up the broad hall-stair she passes away;
Into the shadow, out of the light;
With her last "Good night," for after to-day
She and I never shall say "Good night!"

A Remedy that Defies Competition.

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters defy competition. Of the host of rival tonics that have cropped up during its long career, not one has gained and retained such a large share of public favor, though many have enjoyed an ephemeral popularity. The reason is this, that whereas many of these medicines were advertised to perform cures of the most startling nature, they have when tested, almost invariably turned out to be of little or no value, while the great invigorant, whose reputation they were intended to rival, has never disappointed those who have placed their confidence in it. It has vindicated in the amplest manner its claims to be considered a positive specific remedy for liver complaint, dyspepsia, malarious fevers, debility, constipation, and numerous other maladies arising from general weakness and disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels.

Thrash's Consumption Cure and Lung Restorer.

CENTRAL RAILROAD & BANK'G CO., OF GEORGIA,
ATLANTA, GA., June 4th, 1876.

Messrs. J. T. Thrash & Co., Griffin, Ga.:

GENTS—Please send me (as before) one largest size bottle of your "Consumption Cure and Lung Restorer"—true to name. It is the only remedy now extant for consumption and diseased throat and lungs. Other remedies, so numerously recommended, are but temporary palliatives, that do any good but for a short time, whilst your Consumption Cure and Lung Restorer gives relief at once and will permanently cure. My experience with remedies for the relief of the throat and lungs probably exceeds that of but very few persons, physicians or otherwise. I have been very near the point of dissolution of soul from its afflicted tenement; and have used every remedy ever heard of; the effect appeared only to procrastinate the sufferings of my mortal existence. Seeing Dr. Lovic Pierce's certificate of your medicine, and being well acquainted with the reverend doctor for nearly forty years, and consequently knew well his afflictions, concluded that your remedy might do me good, at least I had never used and as I had used every other remedy known or heard of, concluded at once to give it a trial. I sent to you for a bottle, as you are aware, and after using it, I purchased more from Messrs. Hunt, Rankin & Lamar, of this city. Before the first was exhausted I was fully convinced of its good effects; and after or about the time of the use of the last two, I could speak easily, and could sing; a thing I could not have done for three year or longer; and have been able to lie down comfortably and sleep soundly, a comfort that I had not enjoyed for a long time. I have been using the remedy about twenty days, and unhesitatingly certify that it is a cure for consumption and all affections of the throat. My lungs commenced exhibiting signs of disease in March, 1858, the result of measles, a cough ensued and continued to grow worse. April, 1874, I was so feeble that I could not attend to business of any sort, and was forced to give up and come to Atlanta that I might be near my good old mother to breathe out my last on earth: the never-tiring attention of that mother and your Consumption Cure and Lung Restorer has saved me and I now feel as if my life might be spared me several years longer, Indian remedies, German remedies, and French remedies to the contrary. Respectfully,

JOHN H. MEAD.

Lands Unsurpassed for Fruits and Farming.

OFFICE SOUTH FLORIDA LAND AGENCY,
FORT MASON, Orange County Florida.

THE undersigned have entered into a business arrangement for the purpose of locating settlers on the public lands (either the United States or State) in this and adjoining counties.

Located in the most delightful portions of Orange county, in a section of territory conceded by all to be the best adapted to the culture of the orange and kindred fruits, and thoroughly acquainted with all the lands in this vicinity, we are better able to give information concerning the lands still vacant than any others engaged in the land business in this county.

The railroad now in course of construction connecting the St. John's river at Lake George with Lakes Harris, Eustis, Griffin, Dora and the other head [illegible] er lakes of the Oclawaha river, will furnish all surrounding lands with ample transportation facilities and place settlers within easy distance of the Northern and Eastern markets.

The Climatic Advantages

of this section of territory are so well known as scarcely to need recapitulation. Vegetables and tropical fruits can be grown throughout the year without danger from cold. The severest frosts of this lake region do not injure vegetation, as was proven during the past winter, when the frosts killed early vegetables at considerable distances south of us and left this region untouched—not a blade of grass being injured.

Homesteads near the Railroad.

We are now prepared to locate settlers on the public lands in close proximity to the railroad One of the undersigned (Mr JOHN S. BANKS), has just completed a thorough survey of a large tract of United States lands, situated at from three to six miles distance from the railroad. These lands are not only admirably adapted to the culture of oranges, but are also excellent for farming purposes, and can be easily brought into cultivation, the old settlers in the vicinity raising an abundant supply of corn, cotton, sugar, etc., upon them.

a Homestead Now.

Parties who propose settling in Florida will find it greatly to their advantage to obtain to homesteads during the summer months, and thus avoid the rush of the fall months. Those desiring locate near the railroad can obtain

One Hundred and Sixty Acres Free

if their entry is made before the completion of the road. After its completion, which will be some time this coming fall, they will not be permitted to enter more than eighty acres. Persons locating during this summer can also get their lands in readiness for a crop of early vegetables next winter, and thus be enabled to realize a profit from the lands immediately. We are now

Prepared to Locate Homesteads,

singly or in colonies, at moderate rates, and in every case we guarantee complete satisfaction. No lands will be located by us until one of us have thoroughly surveyed them, and in all cases our patrons shall be given the best tracts of which we have any knowledge, without favoritism or partiality being shown to any one.

State Lands.

We are also prepared to locate, survey and purchase any desired quantity of State lands, and will perform this work, either for a specified price in money or for an agreed upon per centum of land. We now have some choice pieces of State land marked out on our maps, which have been surveyed by us, and which are among the best lands of this State.

Further Details

can be obtained by addressing (with stamp enclosed for reply) the undersigned. Prompt attention given to all letters. Address

BANKS & ST. CLAIR-ABRAMS,
Fort Mason, Orange county, Florida.

To My Friends in Georgia, Alabama and South Carolina.

In response to many letters received by me, I have entered into a business arrangement with Mr. JOHN S. BANKS for the purpose of locating settlers on the public lands of this and adjoining counties. Mr. BANKS is a practical surveyor of many years' experience, and possess a thorough knowledge of the public lands, having been United States Register of Public Lands in this State. We have explored and surveyed a considerable tract of these lands, and we are now prepared to locate settlers on

Choice Homesteads.

Many persons have written me expressing a desire to move to this State during the present year. These I would advise to OBTAIN THEIR HOMESTEADS NOW. In the fall months the rush of Northern settlers is so great that it is difficult to obtain choice homesteads; whereas, at present the travel is light, and one can select a place with greater ease In addition, the large tract of homestead lands contiguous to the railroad, recently surveyed and opened up for settlement by Mr. BANKS, if not entered this summer, will inevitably be taken up by the first influx of Northern travelers next fall. As my desire (without prejudice to Northern settlers) is to locate the numerous citizens of the States above named on choice homesteads, while able to do so, I urge them to make the selections at once, and thus secure valuable and eligible homes in this State.

WEDDING EVE.

At the single silver chime she hies,
With golden lights in the brown of her hair,
She carries away my heart and eyes,
And leaves me her kiss at the foot of the stair!

Two plump white arms are round my neck;
Her mouth and her eyes and her heart kiss mine;
She kisses me words she will not speak,
Kisses the sunlight mingled with mine.

Up the broad hall-stair she passes away;
Into the shadow, out of the light;
With her last "Good night," for after to-day
She and I never shall say "Good night!"

A Remedy that Defies Competition.

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters defy competition. Of the host of rival tonics that have cropped up during its long career, not one has gained and retained such a large share of public favor, though many have enjoyed an ephemeral popularity. The reason is this, that whereas many of these medicines were advertised to perform cures of the most startling nature, they have when tested, almost invariably turned out to be of little or no value, while the great invigorant, whose reputation they were intended to rival, has never disappointed those who have placed their confidence in it. It has vindicated in the amplest manner its claims to be considered a positive specific remedy for liver complaint, dyspepsia, malarious fevers, debility, constipation, and numerous other maladies arising from general weakness and disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels. sep16—d&w1w

Special Notices.

Thrash's Consumption Cure and Lung Restorer.

CENTRAL RAILROAD & BANK'G CO., OF GEORGIA,
ATLANTA, GA., June 4th, 1876.

Messrs. J. T. Thrash & Co., Griffin, Ga.:

GENTS—Please send me (as before) one largest size bottle of your "Consumption Cure and Lung Restorer"—true to name. It is the only remedy now extant for consumption and diseased throat and lungs. Other remedies, so numerously recommended, are but temporary palliatives, that do any good but for a short time, whilst your Consumption Cure and Lung Restorer gives relief at once and will permanently cure. My experience with remedies for the relief of the throat and lungs probably exceeds that of but very few persons, physicians or otherwise. I have been very near the point of dissolution of soul from its afflicted tenement; and have used every remedy ever heard of; the effect appeared only to procrastinate the sufferings of my mortal existence. Seeing Dr. Lovic Pierce's certificate of your medicine, and being well acquainted with the reverend doctor for nearly forty years, and consequently knew well his afflictions, concluded that your remedy might do me good, at least I had never used and as I had used every other remedy known or heard of, concluded at once to give it a trial. I sent to you for a bottle, you are aware, and after using it, I purchased more from Messrs. Hunt, Rankin & Lamar, this city. Before the first was exhausted I was fully convinced of its good effects; and after or about the time of the use of the last two, I could speak easily, and could sing; a thing I could not have done for three year or longer; and have been able to lie down comfortably and sleep soundly, a comfort that I had not enjoyed for a long time. I have been using the remedy about twenty days, and unhesitatingly certify that it is a cure for consumption and all affections of the throat. My lungs commenced exhibiting signs of disease in March, 1858, the result of measles, a cough ensued and continued to grow worse. April, 1874, I was so feeble that I could not attend to business of any sort, and was forced to give up and come to Atlanta that I might be near my good old mother to breathe out my last on earth: the never-tiring attention of that mother and your Consumption Cure and Lung Restorer has saved me and I now feel as if my life might be spared me several years longer. Indian remedies, German remedies, and French remedies to the contrary. Respectfully,

JOHN H. MEAD.

Centennial Exhibition

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

THIS GREAT INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITION, DESIGNED TO COMMEMORATE the ONE HUNDREDTH ANNIVERSARY OF AMERICAN INDEPENDENCE, WILL OPEN MAY 10th AND CLOSE NOVEMBER 10th, 1876. All the Nations of the world and all the States and Territories of the Union will participate, bringing together the most comprehensive collection of art treasures, mechanical inventions, scientific discoveries, manufacturing achievements, mineral specimens, and agricultural products ever exhibited. The grounds devoted to the Exhibition are situated on the line of the Pennsylvania Railroad and embrace four hundred and fifty acres of Fairmount Park, all highly improved and ornamented, on which are erected the largest buildings ever constructed—five of these covering an area of fifty acres and costing $5,000,000. The total number of buildings erected for the purpose of the Exhibition is over one hundred.

The Pennsylvania Railroad

THE GREAT TRUNK LINE

AND FAST

Mail Route of the United States, will be most direct convenient and economical way of reaching Philadelphia and this great Exhibition from all sections of the country. Its trains to and from Philadelphia will pass through a GRAND CENTENNIAL DEPOT, which the Company have erected at the Main Entrance to the Exhibition Grounds for the accommodation of passengers who wish to stop at or start from the numerous large hotels contiguous to this station and the Exhibition—a convenience of the greatest value to visitors, and afforded exclusively by the Pennsylvania Railroad, which is THE ONLY LINE RUNNING DIRECT TO THE CENTENNIAL BUILDINGS. Excursion trains will also stop at the Encampment of the Patrons of Husbandry, at Elm Station, on this road.

THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD IS THE GRANDEST RAILWAY ORGANIZATION IN THE WORLD. IT CONTROLS SEVEN THOUSAND MILES OF ROADWAY, FORMING CONTINUOUS LINES TO PHILADELPHIA, NEW YORK, BALTIMORE, AND WASHINGTON, OVER WHICH LUXURIOUS DAY AND NIGHT CARS ARE RUN FROM CHICAGO, ST. LOUIS, LOUISVILLE, CINCINNATI, INDIANAPOLIS, COLUMBUS, TOLEDO, CLEVELAND AND ERIE, WITHOUT CHANGE.

Its main line is laid with double and third tracks of heavy steel rails, upon a deep bed of broken stone, ballast, and its bridges are all of iron or stone. Its passenger trains are equipped with every known improvement for comfort and safety, and are run at faster speed for greater distances than the trains of any line on the continent. The Company has largely increased its equipment for Centennial travel, and will be prepared to build in its own shops locomotives and passenger cars at short notice sufficient to fully accommodate any extra demand. The unequalled resources at the command of the Company guarantee the most perfect accommodation for all its patrons during the Centennial Exhibition.

THE MAGNIFICENT SCENERY for which the Pennsylvania Railroad is so justly celebrated presents to the traveler over its perfect roadway an ever-changing panorama of river, mountain and landscape views unequalled in America.

THE EATING-STATIONS on this line are unsurpassed. Meals will be furnished at suitable hours and ample time allowed for enjoying them.

EXCURSION TICKETS, at reduced rates, will be sold at all principal Railroad Ticket Offices in the West, North-West, South-West.

BE SURE THAT YOUR TICKETS READ VIA THE GREAT PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE TO THE CENTENNIAL.

Three Miles of Railroad Transportat'n

Lands Unsurpassed for Fruits and Farming.

OFFICE SOUTH FLORIDA LAND AGENCY,
FORT MASON, Orange County Florida.

THE undersigned have entered into a business arrangement for the purpose of locating settlers on the public lands (either the United States or State) in this and adjoining counties.

Located in the most delightful portions of Orange county, in a section of territory conceded by all to be best adapted to the culture of the orange and kindred fruits, and thoroughly acquainted with all the lands in this vicinity, we are better able to give information concerning the lands still vacant than any others engaged in the land business in this county.

The railroad now in course of construction connecting the St. John's river at Lake George with Lakes Harris, Eustis, Griffin, Dora and the other head lakes of the Oclawaha river, will furnish all surrounding lands with ample transportation facilities and place settlers within easy distance of the Northern and Eastern markets.

The Climatic Advantages

of this section of territory are so well known as scarcely to need recapitulation. Vegetables and tropical fruits can be grown throughout the year without danger from cold. The severest frosts of this lake region do not injure vegetation, as was proven during the past winter, when the frosts killed early vegetables at considerable distances south of us and left this region untouched—not a blade of grass being injured.

Homesteads near the Railroad.

We are now prepared to locate settlers on the public lands in close proximity to the railroad. One of the undersigned (Mr JOHN S. BANKS), has just completed a thorough survey of a large tract of United States lands, situated at from three to six miles distance from the railroad. These lands are not only admirably adapted to the culture of oranges, but are also excellent for farming purposes, and can be easily brought into cultivation, the old settlers in the vicinity raising an abundant supply of corn, cotton, sugar, etc., upon them.

a Homestead Now.

Parties who propose settling in Florida will find it greatly to their advantage to obtain to homesteads during the summer months, and thus avoid the rush of the fall months. Those desiring locate near the railroad can obtain

One Hundred and Sixty Acres Free

if their entry is made before the completion of the road. After its completion, which will be some time this coming fall, they will not be permitted to enter more than eighty acres. Persons locating during this summer can also get their lands in readiness for a crop of early vegetables next winter, and thus be enabled to realize a profit from the lands immediately. We are now

Prepared to Locate Homesteads,

singly or in colonies, at moderate rates, and in every case we guarantee complete satisfaction. No lands will be located by us until one of us have thoroughly surveyed them, and in all cases our patrons shall be given the best tracts of which we have any knowledge, without favoritism or partiality being shown to any one.

State Lands.

We are also prepared to locate, survey and purchase any desired quantity of State lands, and will perform this work, either for a specified price in money or for an agreed upon per centum of land. We now have some choice pieces of State land marked out on our maps, which have been surveyed by us, and which are among the best lands of this State.

Further Details

can be obtained by addressing (with stamp enclosed for reply) the undersigned. Prompt attention given to all letters. Address

BANKS & ST. CLAIR-ABRAMS,

To My Friends in Georgia, Alabama and South Carolina.

In response to many letters received by me, I have entered into a business arrangement with Mr. JOHN S. BANKS for the purpose of locating settlers on the public lands of this and adjoining counties. Mr. BANKS is a practical surveyor of many years' experience, and possess a thorough knowledge of the public lands, having been United States Register of Public Lands in this State. We have explored and surveyed a considerable tract of these lands, and we are now prepared to locate settlers on

Choice Homesteads.

Many persons have written me expressing a desire to move to this State during the present year. These I would advise to OBTAIN THEIR HOMESTEADS NOW. In the fall months the rush of Northern settlers is so great that it is difficult to obtain choice homesteads; whereas, at present the travel is light, and one can select a place with greater ease. In addition, the large tract of homestead lands contiguous to the railroad, recently surveyed and opened up for settlement by Mr. BANKS, if not entered this summer, will inevitably be taken up by the first influx of Northern travelers next fall. As my desire (without prejudice to Northern settlers) is to locate the numerous citizens of the States above named on choice homesteads, while able to do so, I urge them to make the selections at once, and thus secure valuable and eligible homes in this State.

Coin Thief in Trouble.

Some time last June, a valuable coin was stolen from Doctor Hitchcock, who resided on Houston street. The matter was communicated to the police, but they were unable to discover the rogue who carried her off. The other day, however, she came home to the gratification of her owner, and it was subsequently discovered that the thief was one Abram Hayes, a gentleman of color, not altogether unknown to our criminal courts. Abram was arrested and carried before Justice Ezzard yesterday to give an account of himself, and of his possession of the coin. He was unable to do this, and persuaded to retire to jail.

—Tom J. Turner and Zack Castlebury returned from the centennial Thursday and report it a big thing.

—Merchants report a lively trade for he past week. Quite a large number of country merchants have been in town securing stocks.

—Decatur had a sensation Thursday in the trial of a crazy negro man, charged with assisting prisoners to escape. The jury was remanded to have his sanity passed upon. His mania is giving military orders to the crowds about him.

—There was a very excellent theatrical performance and ball given at James' Hall Thursday night by the Atlanta Turn Verein, in aid of the Savannah sufferers. The result we are assured will be a handsome donation.

—Hon. Jno. W. Wofford, Tilden elector at large, spoke to the people of Acworth yesterday. He made a grand presentation of democratic doctrines.

—Capt. John Thomas has generously set aside all feelings of dissatisfaction that he might have entertained with respect to the recent nominations for representatives, and will give James, Hilyer and Fry his earnest support. Capt. Thomas is too good a democrat to bear the seeming of a disturber of party harmony, and his self-abnegation in this notable instance will tend to raise still higher the party's regard for his services and cement to him the friendship of the people in whose interests the sacrifices have been made.

—Rev. John J. Robinson, of Eufaula, Ala., will deliver a sermon in the Central Presbyterian church on next Sunday morning, September 24th. Subject; "The Presbyterian church, its creed, polity and relations to the American revolution."

—Many of our citizens will no doubt be glad to know that Rev T M Harris will be in our city this morning and will preach at the Hunter street Christian church to-morrow morning. Mr Harris' well-known ability always attracts a large audience wherever and whenever he preaches and being a deep thinker, a hard student and brilliant orator, his congregation never tire of hearing him. We welcome the Rev gentleman to our city and trust that his stay with us will be both pleasant and profitable.

—Mr. Isaac Guthman has Rhine wine eleven years old. It is pure and of fine flavor. Try it.

—It is thought that the domicile of the army headquarters will be arranged here next week.

—Merchants and business men should advertise to-morrow's Constitution.

—Parties arrived from Griffin speak highly of the campaign effort of Col. Shorter on Wednesday. It was a magnificent effort for Tilden and reform.

—Advertise in Sunday's Constitution.

—DeKalb county superior court for the fall term is still in session and will not adjourn probably until Tuesday or Wednesday next.

—For rare and interesting reading get a Sunday's Constitution.

—It is believed from the present outlook that the larger number of the students in the public schools will continue through the the tuition term.

—Get a copy of Sunday's Constitution.

—Col. J. J. Hickman, Right Worthy Grand Chief Templar of the World, leaves today, accompanied by his wife, for his trip to Europe.

—H. L. Spencer, Esq., of Social Circle, is registered at the Kimball.

—Hon. A. O. Bacon of Macon is at the Kimball.

—Gen. Stephen D. Lee is stopping at the Kimball House.

—The city court held a brief session yesterday morning, at which several motions were argued. No criminal business was transacted.

—Poney Jeter alias Kate Jeter, and Eliza Crutchfield tried to get up a peace warrant case before Justice Wright yesterday. The warrants were dismissed.

—There was a rumor upon the streets at a late hour last night of a miserable wife beating performance in respectable circles, but the reporter could gather no particulars.

—Templeton will devote the entire proceeds of the matinee to Savannah, and he will ask some reliable citizen to receive the money at the door. There should be a rousing audience to second old John's noble efforts.

—Cotton is coming into town by wagon in considerable quantity. The roads every morning are alive with teams hauling the staple to market.

BRYAN AT DECATUR.

A Practical and Patriotic Address by the Senatorial Candidate.

Yesterday, at the adjournment of court for dinner, Hon. George W. Bryan, of McDonough, the senatorial candidate of the democracy in the 35th district, addressed the people present.

Col. Bryan's speech was a plain and practical exposition of the exigencies of the times and the remedies to be sought for the better fortunes of the people. He would advocate such legislation as tended to care best for the interests of the whole people of Georgia. He desired such further reforms as might be found wanting in the administration of the government, and such measures as would tend to maintain the dignity and credit of the commonwealth, and at the same time impose the lightest possible burdens upon the people.

He especially felt a deep and abiding sympathy with the interests of the agriculturists of the state and had always been a friend to them. He desired such laws in the premises as would protect and foster such pursuits and tend to advance this great foundation work of state prosperity.

Colonel Bryant then discussed national affairs in an earnest and patriotic manner He recounted the crimes against liberty and the constitution that had marked the history of radicalism, the plunders of that party and its revolutionary aims. He eulogized Tilden, the reformed candidate of our party, and urged every man to do his duty. Colonel Bryant's speech was loudly applauded and gave great satisfaction. The people gave him a cordial reception and assurances of support.

GONE TO THE GRAVE.

THIRTY-FIVE DEATHS IN SAVANNAH YESTERDAY.

The Fever in Charleston, Brunswick and Thomasville—The Receipts Acknowledged—No Fever in Augusta, etc, etc.

Special to the Constitution.

To-Day's Record.

SAVANNAH, Sept. 22.

The total interments to-day were thirty-five; yellow fever thirty one.

Help From Boston.

BOSTON, Sept. 22.

It is estimated that about eight thousand dollars will be collected, mostly from shoe and cotton traders, in this city.

No Fever in Augusta.

AUGUSTA, Sept. 22.

There is no yellow fever in Augusta. The city is clear and healthy.

STARTLING INCREASE OF THE MORTALITY.

Savannah News, Sept. 21st.

The mortuary report to-day shows forty-five interments, of which thirty-six were yellow fever, to which should be added the death of Thomas McGann, reported as resulting from hemorrhage, but which, we are informed by the coroner, was a case of yellow fever, and James Lindsay, disease not reported, also died of yellow fever. This will make thirty eight cases from the prevailing epidemic. The number of interments yesterday was the largest since the breaking out of the fever, being an increase of twelve over any previous day.

With the spread and increase of the fever the suffering and destitution is also increasing to an alarming degree. To mitigate the suffering and relieve the distress. our Benevolent Association, aided by many volunteer assistants, are doing all in their power. But there is one great and vital necessity which they cannot relieve. They cannot supply the medical attendance required by the sick and dying. The demand for medical aid comes from all quarters and from all classes of our citizens Our resident physicians have more calls than it is possible for them to attend. Several of them are entirely broken down by their incessant attendance on the sick, and all of them are more or less worn down by over exertion. We have it from some of the most reliable and experienced physicians in the city that there is an absolute necessity for medical aid—that it is impossible for the physicians of the city to give the necessary attention to the cases of sickness to which they are called. The subject has been one of extreme anxiety for the last few days. The benevolent association report that they can not obtain medical attendance for the sick, and that there is much suffering and death for lack of medical treatment. We have several earnest communications on this subject, which we suppress for obvious reasons. But we feel it our duty to urge the matter on the attention of the medical society and the city authorities, and to insist, in the interest of our sick and dying people, that steps be promptly taken to relieve our overtaxed physicians, and to supply the medical aid so imperatively demanded by the terrible necessities of our situation. There are skilled and experienced physicians in other cities ready to come to the succor of our perishing people. Why are they not invited by their proper authorities?

FEVER NOTES.

Among the victims of the epidemic yesterday was little Bessie, the youngest daughter of Mr. W. E. White, the marine and commercial reporter of the Morning News.

Thomas McGann, a baker, was found dead in McCall's bakery early Wednesday morning. A puddle of blood showed that he had hemorrhage of the stomach. A coroner's inquest was held and a verdict of death from providential causes was rendered. This is the second case of sudden death of yellow fever.

A great many people are under the impression that through freight via Savannah is blocked, and there are no shipments of cotton from this port. This a great mistake. The Central railroad has all arrangements for the transportation of through, and the reception of through freights from New York. Steamers arrive and depart as usual, and nearly all of the cotton men are at their posts.

THE FEVER IN THOMASVILLE

Dr T S Hopkins writes to the Morning News in reference to the disease at Thomasville: We have had yellow fever at Thomasville, but it was brought there from Savannah by the inmates of the Episcopal orphan's home. Two of them reached Thomasville sick of the fever, and in two days fourteen of them had it—one, Miss Anna J Hinely, from Bryan county, has died, and Miss Annie L Douberly, is quite sick. The rest have all recovered. No case of fever in anyway resembling yellow fever has occurred outside of those from Savannah. We regret the sufferings of the little orphans, with whom we have been much since their coming, as attending physician, but as they had to suffer from yellow fever, we are glad that they were brought to Thomasville, thus affording me an opportunity of proving that in the interior pine forests of southern Georgia, the disease can neither be generated or disseminatd by importation.

AN APPEAL FROM BRUNSWICK.

Macon Telegraph, Sept. 22.

We are authoritatively informed that Brunswick is in great need of assistance. The people there are in moderate circumstances, and the breaking out of the pestilence has reduced many to destitution. Let the people who are giving to the aid of the suffering remember this, Brunswick needs food and money, and needs it bad. The people are probably in a worse condition than those of Savannah and in more urgent need of help. Let them have assistance.

A letter in the Telegraph from Brunswick gives the following particulars of the fever in that city: On Tuesday evening, the 17th instant the medical authorities announced that yellow fever in a mild form prevailed here.

There had been a good many cases of some kind of fever for two weeks before, most of them light. Only three deaths had occurred during the week ending Saturday morning the 16th two of them white, and the other a colored boy. Neither of those were from yellow fever, and it was believed that the sickness was nearly over. But since that date there have been several deaths, and a large number are sick now.

On Sunday evening application was made by telegraph to Charleston, S. C., asking if two physicians of experience in yellow fever, and ten nurses could be sent here immediately. The reply received on Monday evening, was a negative. This was a very great disappointment, as none of the physicians here have had any experience in the treatment of yellow fever. Brunswick had always been so healthy and free from epidemics that none here are equal to this emergency.

To-day a physician of high ability, who has had much experience in two yellow fever epidemics, visited Brunswick by invitation to examine the cases here. He remained some hours and examined over twenty cases that were shown him—all that his time would permit. His opinion is decided that not one of those cases he examined is yellow fever—they are the Spanish dengue fever.

DEATH OF A PRIEST.

Macon Telegraph, 22d.

Rev Father Craddock, of New York, went to Savannah last week for the purpose of nursing the sick. He remained there two days and nights, making the rounds of the city. He was then sent to this city, where it was held that he could be of more service than in Savannah, and at the same time remove him from danger. He came hither on Saturday, and on Sunday preached in the Catholic church. Monday he was taken ill at the residence of Mr J A Gaboury, in Vineville, and died about 8 o'clock Wednesday evening. He was buried at 11 o'clock yesterday. He assumed a fearful risk in going to Savannah, in his wholly unacclimated condition, and he paid the penalty of his heroism. He lacked no attention during his illness, as he was attended to the very last by the Sisters.

AT AUGUSTA.

Augusta Chronicle, Sept 22

We sincerely trust the people of Augusta will pay no attention to idle rumors of yellow fever There has not been, nor is there now, a case of yellow fever in Augusta This is positively certain. We promised weeks ago to inform the readers of the Chronicle and Sentinel of the first case of yellow fever originating in Augusta, and we intend to keep our promise.

A SAD DEATH.

We regret to learn the death of W. Edgar Jones, Esq., of Brunswick, Georgia. Mr. Jones was a son of Dr. J. S. Jones, of McDuffie county, but had moved to Brunswick to practice his profession—the law. There he fell an early victim to the scourge which is now devastating the coast of Georgia and South Carolina. He was a young man of great promise and had already achieved distinction in his profession. By his death the state has lost a son who would have done her great honor in the future. We tender our profoundest sympathy to his family and trust that the Doer of all Good will pour balm into the hearts that have been so sorely afflicted.

AT CHARLESTON.

See an article on yellow fever on the second page of this issue. The Charleston papers have decided to suppress for the present all fever news They promise to speak out as soon as the fever becomes epidemic.

GOV. SMITH APPEALED TO.

ATLANTA, Sept. 22, 1876.

Hon. James M. Smith, Governor of Georgia—DEAR SIR—Having recently returned from my third visit to Savannah since the yellow fever was declared epidemic in that city, and having carefully noted the progress of the disease and the increase of destitution in that seaport town, I can with confidence assure your excellency that a crisis has now been reached in the development of sickness and distress in that afflicted community, that calls for extraordinary and prompt means of relief from the entire people of this state.

It is true that a pretty general response has been made to the appeals already sent out, yet there are many towns and communities in this commonwealth that have as yet taken no action in the matter. I attribute this almost wholly to the fact that the liberal contributions from New York and other large cities have caused those communities to feel that their smaller donations were not now needed, as those so generally being rendered would meet the emergencies of the hour.

This, sir, is a great mistake. As I viewed the terrible condition of things in Savannah on Monday last, (and there has been a fearful increase in the daily mortality since that time,) God in His infinite wisdom only knows when or how this awful calamity is to be lifted from that sorely stricken people. My greatest fear for them is that there will come a time, even in the immediate future, when both money and supplies may suddenly fail them for a season, and their already deep distress be greatly increased thereby.

Were I not confined to my bed by sickness, I could, in a personal interview, clearly explain these points to your excellency, and, I think, show you that a proclamation from the governor, at this time, in behalf of both Savannah and Brunswick, would avert any such dreaded result. The people of Georgia have a profound respect for the wisdom, prudence and justice displayed by you in the discharge of your many responsible public duties, and an official statement from you, of the true condition of affairs in the above-named cities, with the assurance that continued demands must necessarily be made upon the people of the state for aid for some weeks to come, would, I feel assured, result in calling forth generous contributions of money and donations of provisions from every town and city in this grand old "Empire State of the South." Let the good people of the mountains, but know that their great seaport city is in distress that is indescribable, with her younger city of Brunswick similarly situated, and those noble hearted men and woman will respond with an alacrity that will cheer the hearts of the weary but patient and faithful watchers by the almost countless beds of suffering in those plague-stricken cities of our own sea coast. Very respectfully,

SIDNEY HERBERT,
Special Relief Agent Savannah Benevolent Association.

STATE OF GEORGIA,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
ATLANTA, GA., Sept. 22, 1876.

Mr. Sidney Herbert Special Relief Agent:

DEAR SIR—Your letter of this morning in reference to the deplorable condition of our seaport cities, Savannah and Brunswick, has been relieved.

It is hardly necessary for me to assure you that the subject of your letter has engaged my earnest consideration, and that I am ready to do my whole duty in the premises.

Your suggestion shall receive the attention it merits, and in the meantime I beg to assure you of my sympathy for yourself in your illness.

Yours truly,
JAMES M. SMITH.

THE SITUATION IN SAVANNAH.

A NOBLE TRIBUTE TO THE SISTERS OF MERCY.

A letter from Capt. John F. Wheaton, chairman, to the relief committee of this city, under date of 21st, says:

Yesterday was the worst day, so far, as you will see by the News. To-day is rainy, and with an increase of the disease, that in a day or two will tell its record in the mortuary report. The great draft on us is the care of the colored people, and so much so to-day, we have arranged to establish two additional colored hospitals, in the eastern and the other in the western part of the city, under the superintendence of those daughters of Heaven, the Sisters of Mercy. The bravery and devotion of these religious women in the hospitals and in visiting the sick, commands our admiration, and in their business habits, training and system, we find the most efficient directresses of our charities.

AFFLICTED BRUNSWICK.

ONE HALF OF THE CITY SICK WITH THE FEVER.

An Appeal to Atlanta for Help.

Col. L. P. Grant received last evening, the following telegram from his son, Mr. John A. Grant at Macon. Its contents are simply terrible, and will not fail to arouse a feeling of sympathy throughout our entire city. The fever seems to be making greater ravages in Brunswick than in Savannah, and in a community less prepared to withstand it. The generosity of our people has already been heavily taxed, but we feel assured that this cry from Brunswick will not be in vain:

THE DISPATCH IS AS FOLLOWS:

MACON, GA., Sept. 22, 1876.

To L. P. Grant, Superintendent: I have just received reports from Brunswick to the effect that are down sick. Unless they can get help from abroad, it is possible that many will die, who could otherwise be saved. It is impossible to exaggerate the

NEARLY ONE HALF OF THE POPULATION

FRIGHTFUL STATE OF THINGS THERE

Please let this be shown to the citizens of Atlanta, and I am certain they will respond at once.

[Signed,] JOHN A. GRANT,
Superintenpent Macon and Brunswick R. R.

The list of deaths has already become apalling. From Captain W B Kendrick, formerly the superintendent of the school at Brunswick, we have obtained the following additional facts; Captain Kendrick is in daily communication with the city:

Mr W E Jones, a young lawyer of Thomson, was married last Sunday to Miss Lillie Anderson, daughter of Dr. Anderson, dentist at Brunswick. Tuesday morning the bridegroom was a corpse.

Among the dead are, Mr Herzog, a baker, Mrs Krouse, Mrs Boon, the wife of the Episcopal minister. She leaves three children, the youngest but six months old. Her husband is absent visiting the centennial, and left his wife in perfect health. Also Mr Tuttle, brother in-law of J T Dunn, the well-known banker and broker.

Dr Blaine reports that he has alone one hundred cases in his hands, with his own wife and family sick.

The suffering is fearful and the people in need of medicine, food and supplies.

Captain Kendrick has taken an active interest in behalf of these unfortunate people, and will endeavor to organize a relief committee.

As their wants are pressing in the extreme he will be at the store of Messrs. Phillips & Crew, on Monday; from eight A. M. to 5 P. M., and will thankfully receive and forward any donations that may be sent in.

THE RECORDER.

Scenes From the Police Court—Chung Lee Makes a Speech.

The recorder's court was not so well patronized yesterday as it has been for some mornings past. Still a few niggers who hadn't done nothing at all were on hand, and his honor was content.

Business was opened with one Mary McDaniel, a ragged darkey, from the outskirts of Deantown and who was disposed of with out much ceremony. Mary started a new way of raising money. Thursday night, and established a can can show on Whitehall street, to which small boys and darkies were admitted at five cents a head. The recorder collected the entrance money to the time of $10 [illegible] cents.

Mary Lanier, Katie Po[illegible] and Mrs Larramore were next brought to the bar to answer the offense of keeping a disorderly house. They hail from one of those classic settlements which are found scattered in great profusion about the barracks. A host of witnesses were sworn, all of whom testified that the house was of notoriously bad character. On last Monday night the weekly row came off to the great terror of the surrounding inhabitants. One gentleman had a chair smashed over his head, another got kicked into the street and various other civilities of a like nature passed among the party of choice spirits who were there assembled. The defendants knew absolutely nothing of this occurrence. They must have been out when it happened. They were always out when there was a fuss, but sometimes when their friends called to see them they would frolic a little, and may be that was what the witnesses heard. The court remarked that he had heard of a good many things being done in a frolic, but never before heard of a man's head being broke for fun. It was too thin, and the ladies were chalked down for $5 and costs around.

In answer to the name of Harrison Matthews, a little barefooted darky stepped to the bar and said he wasn't guilty. To a showman with a moral show who needs a living illustration of total depravity at a tender age, Harrison would be worth a fortune. He is a night Arab by nature, generally coming to the surface about sundown and disappearing about sunrise.

In playing his pranks the other night, Harrison ran against an ugly customer in the person of our friend Chung Lee from the celestial empire. Chung was accompanied in court by his brother, another promising member of the Lee family and in honor of the occasion, both had their pig tails curled, and twisted until they shone like a mirror. When the court asked who knew anything about the case, Chung stepped forward, and with many gestures, gave utterance to the following affecting remarks:

"I no dat eby day dis boy come to my store and say 'dar monkey. He git good cuss. He cuss much. He learn all de boys to cuss. He de teacher. You tink I look like daw monkey? This question so simply put rather startled the court, and gave the prisoner time to say he was'nt de boy, twas anudder nigger." Whereupon Chung turned to him and said: "Offes, we see you Ebry day, ebry nite Him no makee mistake Him know who you are Dat de way you lie 'bout it, eh? I see you round dere, I catchee you free nites. I no makee mistake. Oh, yes."

Here Chung paused in his remarks, and appealed to the other celestial, who looked at the darkey with much disgust, and repeated with great rapidity, "We no makee mistake.' The court told Harrison that it was a bad case, and he would be compelled to believe his pigtailed accusers, but would let him off light with one dollar and costs.

Harrison was escorted down stairs in tears, the celestials grinned all over, and court adjourned.

AN INQUEST THAT DIDN'T COME OFF.

And a Dead Body that Didn't Need Sitting On.

Thursday afternoon some negroes unintentionally perpetrated a huge joke on our worthy coroner. That official received a note, written in a most villainous hand, asking him to call at once at a house, on the corner of Pryor and Hunter streets.

The coroner, who had been thinking all day that he smelt something dead somewhere, instantly bestirred himself. Dr. Roach was notified, a constable pressed into service, and a jury of discreet and sober citizens were sworn in. The jury, accompanied by the coroner, and a representative of the CONSTITUTION, started out for the place, which was found to be one of the cluster of negro shanties on the right of Pryor street, and next to Taylor's livery stables. Upon filing into the room the was found in a coffin on a chair, and guarded by an old negro woman bord ring on idiotcy, and a dilapidated and venerable black man. The woman gave her name as Margaret Johnson, and it was no easy task to get anything intelligent out of her. Her statement, however, was that the child was six months old, and was the child of a negro girl named Fannie and a negro man named Charley Tinsley. The mother died soon after the child was born, and she did not know where the father was. The babe was born in that house, and after the death of the mother was taken in charge by some negroes living there, who finally turned it over to her. It had been sick for sometime, and died Wednesday morning. It also came out that the old woman had no money to bury it with, and had an idea that the coroner would do it for her. Hence he was sent after. The body of the infant was much emaciated, and gave evident signs that it had died from neglect. The coroner concluded that the case did not need any sitting on, and the meeting was adjourned. The old woman was directed to apply to the proper city authorities.

—Two gentlemen from Atlanta while at the centennial, a few days ago, had an altercation with a negro and disarranged the darkey's teeth to a woeful extent. They bought him a new set of false teeth, and thereby settled a prosecution for dangerous assault.

ARMY HEADQUARTERS.

They Will be Established Here on and after Monday.

It will be seen from the general order published below that the headquarters of the department of the south will be established in this city on Monday next. We understand that Gen Ruger and staff will most probably arrive on Sunday night and temporarily take quarters at the Kimball House. The following is the order referred to:

HEADQUARTERS DEPT. OF THE SOUTH,
LOUISVILLE, KY., Sept. 18, 1876.

General orders No. 17—In compliance with general order No, 91, current series, headquarters of the department will be removed from Louisville, Kentucky, to Atlanta, Georgia, to take effect on the 25th instant. By command of

COLONEL RUGER,
Brevet Brigadier General U. S. A.
CHAUNCEY McKEEVER,
Assistant Adjutant General.

STEALING LETTERS.

How a Hopeful Young Darkey Came to Grief Yesterday.

Yesterday morning a small sized sensation was created in and about the postoffice, by the discovery and capture of a letter thief. The hero of the case is a mulatto boy about twelve years of age. His name is Moncher Venable. Although young, Moncher is a thief of no inconsiderable parts, and would in time have risen high in his profession.

A short time since, while knocking around the postoffice he happened to notice that some one had left a key in one of the lock boxes. Moncher scarce lets slip an opportunity of appropriating anything that is lying around loose, so

HE APPROPRIATED THIS KEY.

Having thus gotten the key, he concluded he might as well also get the mail, and he did get it with great regularity, and every morning till he was arrested.

Now this box was the property of a gentleman by the name of Watson, and his key had not changed hands many days before he began to notice that his letters did not arrive. As he had another key and had not missed the first, he laid the fault upon the mails, but the postmaster thought somerhing was wrong and the case was reported to Mr. John Frey, postoffice agent and detective. He succeeded yesterday in catching the little rogue by a very simple artifice. He inclosed three bills in as many letters; the first contained a $5 note, the second, a $2 note and the third a $2 note These letters were addressed to Mr. Watson's box, and having directed them the detective laid in wait and watched results. He did not have to watch very long. Moncher came along as usual, opened the box and pocketed the three letters. The officer followed him to the street, and just as he was about to dance a jig in honor of his big haul he was collared,

The jig was indefinitely postponed, and the discouraged dancer was marched off to the office of Commissioner Buck. Here the bills which had been previously marked were found upon his person, and he owned up the whole thing. He stated, however, that he had not gotten any considerable sum of money, of the letters he had stolen.

He has a mother living who is at the centennial, where she accompanied a party of visitors as servant.

The commissioner sent Moncher to jail in default of a bond of $500.

The Templetons.

A first rate audience was present at DeGive's last night, and the Templeton troupe presented "East Lynne" in a very satisfactory manner. Alice Vane gave a capital interpretation of "Isabelle" and in the touching scenes which abound in the drama, drew tears from the eyes of many. John Templeton played "Carlisle" in a finished and excellent style and was frequently applauded. The support was quite good in all particulars.

Fay, the happy little star, in her specialties delighted the audience and sent them home full of pleasurable remembrances She is the most winsome and artistic child actress upon the American stage and must some day become a famous light to the boards.

The matinee for the benefit of the Savannah sufferers occurs at 1:30 P. M. to-day, and there should be a crowded house.

Wood-Choppers' Row.

An incipient riot occurred in the eastern part of the county yesterday among some half dozen colored men who were engaged in chopping wood in the forest.

It seems that one of the men had used some bad language and circulated evil reports too, and about the wife of another of the men. When they met in the woods yesterday an altercation ensued and the parties came to blows. The defamer of female virtue dramatically enough got a sound drubbing for his glibness of tongue. When released from chancery he attempted to use his ax upon the other man, but interposition was made and after a good deal of squabbling between the friends of both parties the affair was quieted.

SHORTER AT GRIFFIN.

A Tilden and Reform Champion Before the People.

The Griffin News of yesterday gives this flattering account of the work of our alternate elector for this district, at Griffin:

"On Wednesday night last, according to appointment, Col Wm A Shorter, of Atlanta, alternate presidential elector for this congressional district, met our citizens at the court house and delivered his maiden speech of the campaign. There was a large and appreciative audience, including quite a number of ladies. Col Shorter was introduced by Col Alexander, chairman of the county democratic executive committee The speech was a fine effort of oratory, and showed that Col Shorter had studied the issues of the day and clearly comprehended the situation of political affairs He pitched into Markham and Norcross with gloves off, and gave a clear exposition of the reform platform of the democratic party, and paid a handsome tribute to the personal worth and high integrity of the great democratic standard bearers.

"Mr Shorter is quite a young man of fine personal appearance and extremely pleasant address. He evidently has a very robust constitution, and there is doubtless a vast amount of hard political work in him, which he is heartily willing to perform for the benefit of his party and country. He is the son of the late ex-Gov Eli Shorter, of Alabama. Has adopted Atlanta as his prominent home, and will doubtless prove a worthy son of an illustrious sire."
